Tipster Sheet

By Paul Tomlinson, in HARPER'S

"Return the enclosed blank with $1.00 attached and we will send you this service for thirty days and supply you with the name of a stock which we believe will advance twenty points within the next few months." This is the new come-on for the unwary which the high-pressure stock salesman has devised.

The lams of today have many safeguards thrown around them to protect their pocketbooks. Therefore the promoters of fraudulent securities devised the "tipster sheet," which masquerades as a legitimate advisory service in order to foster interest in the promoter's own worthless securities. Frequently, nine-tenths of the contents of the newspaper which is often given away if no subscription is forthcoming, is devoted to eminently sound stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange. But the remainder of the journal contains optimistic news items about the promoter's pet. When interest has been aroused, the old ballyho begins—wires, long-distance calls, and visits by the high-pressure salesman.

The insidious propaganda of these counterfeit services opens the door for swindle operations that are taking millions of dollars from our credulous public.

SCHOOL NOTES

Grace Street School

A temperance program was recently presented with these numbers: Song, "America, the Beautiful"; exercise, "Who is a Good American"; recitation, "The Repentant Bottle"; Ralph Demmons; "Life of Frances Willard"; "American Presidents and the American Liquor Question"; recitation, "Our Heroes"; Edward Hayes; recitation, "O Beautiful My Country"; Charlotte Mattatall; original acrostic, Clara Mac Laren; "Life of Neal Dow"; "Making Our Flag"; Edward Hayes and Frances Storer; "What I See in My Flag"; American's Creed; "America."

The acrostic by Miss MacLaren is interesting:
A is for alcohol which we never should drink
I takes from our minds the power to think
L is for love to our country. We should obey its laws and try to be good
C is for courage to fight our way to liberty some happy day
O is for obedience to law, to abstain from alcohol for the heart and the brain
H is for home, many have been spoiled by drinking men who for alcohol toiled
O is for order we're ready all to battle our freedom from alcohol
L is for liberty that some day we'll win from distilled liquors then a new day will begin; and my lesson to you, is from liquor keep free and to your country be true

In grade 5, Miss Fuller's room, Vera Thompson and Edward Hayes had 100 per cent in every spelling lesson for the last six-week ranking period.

ACTION THIS WEEK

Concerning the State Highway Commission, Now Under Federal Fire

Maine legislators apparently are determined that Clyde H. Smith, Shownegun; Charles Murray, Bangor; and Edwin T. Clifford, Winthrop, members of the State Highway Commission who refused to resign at the request of Gov. Gardner, shall be heard.

The Legislature last week passed an order introduced by Senator Spear, Cumberland, creating a committee from the House and Senate to investigate and report on the advisability of proceedings for removal of the three. The members of the committee, named soon after the passage of the order in the House Friday, are Senators Spear, Cumberland; Dwinall, Knox and Mitchell, Arundel; and Representatives Foster, Ellsworth; Melcher, Rumford; Holbrook, Vanceboro; Bishop, Boothbay Harbor; Holman, Farmington; Small, Freedom and Wright, Bath.

Senator Spear presented his order the day after he introduced a resolution favoring an address to the governor for the removal of the commissioners. This resolution was tabled and the order was another move to provide a hearing.

It was a letter from former Secretary Jardine that two weeks ago precipitated the struggle between the chief executive and the commissioners. That letter informed the governor that because of a shortage of cement in road construction, no federal aid for roads would be forthcoming until the commission was changed.

Gov. Gardner called for the resignations and went before the joint session of the lawmakers to tell them of his action. A second letter from the department has been received by the governor and is known to bear on the situation but its contents have not been divulged.

Meantime Attorney General Robinson is in Washington in consultation with the Federal authorities concerning the case and will report to the Maine legislative committees upon his return.

EFFICIENT AND INNOCENT

Attorney Hinckley Tells of Wheels Within Wheels in the Highway Matter

Frederick W. Hinckley, one of the attorneys for the State Highway Commission, issued this statement Saturday:
"I am very much pleased that the Spear order finally passed both branches of the Legislature, and that a committee has been appointed to put in proper form any charges which the Secretary of Agriculture in Washington, or any other persons desire to make against any member of the Highway Commission. This is what we have been seeking for ever since suggestions were made that there was something wrong with the members of the Commission in their handling of the highway program. Now that it seems evident that the

A SMART SMACK

Maker's Boat Shop Turns Out Another Fine One For Criehaven Man

A 31-foot lobster smack was launched from Laforest A. Maker's boat shop near Tillson's wharf last week, and has been the center of much attention as she jauntily rides the icy waves. Watson Barter of Criehaven will have the distinction of commanding this fine craft, which draws about four feet. The materials have a beam of 8 feet, 8 inches, and used in her construction were pine and oak and being a Maker boat it follows that she was built on honor. A 29 h. p. Kermath engine is expected to push her through the water at 8-knot speed.

This craft had no sooner gone overboard than Mr. Maker began laying down a 26-foot yacht for H. B. Bowes of Rockland, who evidently has in mind that the Community Yacht Club is going to be a source of much sport this and succeeding summers. This craft will have a house running nearly its entire length, the balance being covered by an awning. Power will be furnished by a 125 h. p. engine.

Mr. Maker also has the contract to build a 34-foot combination fishing and pleasure craft for a party whose name is not announced at present. He has recently launched for Joseph Dawes a 26-foot fishing boat which is now giving a good account of herself trawling.

Mr. Maker established his shop with a view to repair work, only, but he bids fair to devote the rest of his active days to building, and must soon enlarge his shop.

Commission will ultimately receive a fair hearing before the House and Senate, sitting as a whole, we ask the citizens of the State of Maine to reserve judgment. We feel certain that a complete investigation will fully exonerate all the members of the Commission, and that there is no evidence that can be produced that will warrant such charges as have been made.

"If the citizens of Maine only knew the several suggestions which have been made to the members of the Commission, with a view of having the Legislature 'white-wash' them, and then have them resign; the efforts that have been made to create dissension among the different members of the Commission and divide their strength; of the many intrigues of politicians, some of whom are located temporarily in Washington, seeking not only the jobs of the Commissioners but the hundreds of other jobs in connection with this Highway Department, which expends approximately $10,000,000 a year, they might understand the situation better. This may explain why so strenuous an attempt is being made to remove the Commissioners without a full hearing.

"These things will be revealed when the case is heard, at which time, I believe, that the members of the Legislature, as well as the public at large, will be convinced that the members of the Highway Commission are not only not guilty of any wrong doing, but that they have constituted the most efficient Highway Commission the State has ever known. As a matter of fact, Mr. Murray is the only man who has ever been a member of the Commission who is a practical road-builder, and the evidence will be conclusive of road-building, he has easily saved the State of Maine a quarter of a million dollars each year. The Highway Department is and has been out of politics. It must not be made a political machine."

DIED AT THE WHEEL

Death rode at the wheel yesterday when an automobile containing Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Quear of Thomaston reached a point opposite the George Wellman residence on the New County road.

Mrs. Quear was on the front seat with her husband, and turning to speak to him noted with alarm that his head had fallen forward and that there was a peculiar appearance about the mouth. Death had been instantaneous, in the opinion of Dr. F. F. Brown, who was summoned. Mrs. Quear took the wheel of the rapidly moving machine, but from her position was unable to control the car, and it shot across the road, over the street railway track, and was on the bank of a deep brook when she finally brought it to a standstill.

The body was taken to the Bowes & Crozier undertaking rooms. Mr. Quear came to Knox County from Pennsylvania eight or 10 years ago and located on a farm near the Bog, where he remained until about a year ago, when he moved to Thomaston. His wife is his only near surviving relative.

TWO DRUG STORE DEALS

Another important Main street business deal was recorded yesterday when the Kittredge Pharmacy, longtime tenant of Spear block, leased the store opposite Hotel Rockland formerly occupied by Mont P. Trainer as a bakery.

The stock will be transferred at once, and on April 1st the store thus vacated will have a new tenant known as the Rockland Pharmacy, Inc., a new organization whose officers are now identified with the Corner Drug Store, corner of Main and Limerock streets.

Raymond A. Pooler is president and Warren P. Eldridge is treasurer. Mr. Pooler will continue in charge of the Corner Drug Store and Mr. Eldridge will have the store at the Park street corner.

The entire front of the latter will be remodelled, and the store itself will have new stock and fixtures, to say nothing of a new soda fountain. Mr. Pooler goes to Boston tomorrow to select the materials.

A DAY OF PROFIT

For Those Who Attended the Baptist Conference—Noted Speakers

One of a series of conferences, being held throughout the State by the Baptist denomination, took place at the First Baptist church, this city, last Friday. This included all the churches of Lincoln Association, and the purpose was the presentation of the world situation and the denominational opportunity, and to give a comprehensive idea of the activities of the church at home and abroad.

The principal speakers were Dr. J. C. Killian, field representative of the American Baptist Publication Society and Dr. Howard M. Freas, a medical missionary at home on a furlough from the Belgian Congo.

The general topic was: "The world thrust of Northern Baptists," said Dr. Killian, who spoke at all the sessions of the conference, during his morning talk, gave in very concise form, facts and figures showing the proportions to which the church and its activities have grown from its earliest beginnings.

The missionary work done in this country includes 1130 workers—in 22 racial groups, 26 Christian centers, five chapel cars, five chapel automobiles, with 43 colorports. The denomination has 723 missionaries working in the foreign field. Besides these missionaries there are 9,890 native workers, all serving 2,368 churches. The denomination has 68 doctors ministering to the sick. The Bible is being used in 30 different languages and dialects.

Dr. Freas gave some most interesting descriptions of his work at the oldest mission station in the Belgian Congo. Besides Dr. Freas' duties in the hospital, he is health officer for a territory including 3,000 square miles. Dr. Freas spent much of his time, while in Africa, fighting the sleeping sickness which is different from the disease of the same name in this country, but has this advantage in that the causes are known, and the remedies used are generally successful.

Dr. Freas found that unlimited confidence in modern surgery exists in those regions; the people seem to feel that if they have a pain it can be quite easily cut away under the influence of an anesthetic.

At the evening session Dr. Freas showed pictures of the people among whom he works and the scenes among which he has chosen to spend his life. He will return to Africa in September, stopping in London for further study in one of the best medical schools in the world.

The conferences are in charge of Dr. E. C. Whittemore who gave one of the best addresses of the day. The singing of Rev. and Mrs. P. C. Hughes of Rockport was greatly enjoyed.

TENANT'S HARBOR DAYS

"A brightness which outshines the morning. A splendor brooding no delay. Beckons and tempts my feet away."

I leave the trodden village highway For snow-snow-paths glistening through A jeweled spruce-tree avenue.

Fifty years ago some fine Saturday in midwinter I would decide to pay Uncle Henry a visit at Turkey. Leaving the main road just this side of the Charles Hart place, I would take the path that led over swamps, now frozen, back of the Charles Fountain place and come out at the little old schoolhouse near the gate which guarded the road to Uncle Henry's place. There were two gates on that ridge of way, I remember it. The Adam Teal place came first and then my grandfather's old place. I suppose he must have located there somewhere about 1814.

Zeke would probably have one or two foxes that he had trapped, and as I can recall, this would be about the attire of a boy of that period, red flannel underwear, a flannel shirt, a stout wool suit, no overcoat, a scarf around your neck and a tie behind your back, a cap, mittens and wristers, cow-hide boots, well greased with "mutton tallow," heavy woolen stockings, and, as Roxy would say, "There you are!"

No matter how cold and windy it was on the main road, once you got in the woods the wind ceased to reach you, and you were as warm as toast. Fifty years later when I go walking in the woods here is the outfit: Summer weight union suit, quarter sleeves, cotton shirt, sweater, trousers, overcoat, cap, tan oxford shoes, kickoff rubbers, to keep from slipping medium weight cashmere hose, and a cane. Not that I need a cane walking, but I am mortally afraid a rabbit will jump out and bite me, and that I'll have hydrophobia.

Remember the box traps we used to catch rabbits in? Was it Mel who came one morning and found his trap sprung, reached in for the rabbit—well—that rabbit happened to be a digitigrade of the Mephitis Americana tribe, a carnivorous mammal, which emits at pleasure a fetid liquor as a means of defense. As a result of this encounter Mel had to bury his clothes and he was not permitted to "sit in" around the stove with the gang at the stores or postoffice for quite awhile.

"Them was the happy days fellers." "You said it!" "Then let the icy north-wind blow The trumpets of the coming storm. Young hearts shall hail the drifted cold, As gaily as I did of old."

Somerville, Mass., March 16

There will be a children's matinee this afternoon at Strand Theatre, Richard Dix in "The Redskin." The Wednesday and Thursday program includes two oral and musical features in addition to the all talking feature, "The Doctor's Secret." They are Borrah Minnevitte, musical comedy, headliner and his musical recitals, also a fast skit "One Word." Irene Franklin will be seen and heard as a special attraction.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Harold Connon has moved into his new residence on Union street.

King Solomon's Temple Chapter has work on the Past Master's degree Thursday night.

Dog licenses and tags for the current year may be obtained at the office of City Clerk Keene. If you really like that pup now is the time to show it.

Commander Donald B. MacMillan, who was in Chicago last week, writes to his nephew, Dr. Neil A. Fogg, that it is his intention to again visit Labrador this summer, returning before late fall.

The ice cream establishment on Tillson avenue established nearly a year ago by Simmons & Hammond was closed yesterday and the business will be continued at the Main street plant of the General Ice Cream Corporation with which it has consolidated.

Wendell Clark of this city and Bertram Gardner of Rockport, who have been attending Rockland Commercial College, left Saturday for Rahway, N. J., where they will attend the Western Union school. The young men were recommended by Mrs. Lena Sargent, proprietor of the college.

Answering to the charge of illegal manufacture Mrs. Jennie C. Torrey told Judge Miller Saturday that she made the home brewed the subject of her consumption. His Honor thought such a thirst rather improbable, and held Mrs. Torrey for the April term of court. She furnished bail in the sum of $500.

The Triumph Engine Co. of Waldoboro has bought the hand-tub Robert Cosgrove of Gardner. This machine made some fine records in Gardner, Mass., under the name of Baw Beese, but has yet to make a record in Maine. If the boys can play the machine like they can bowl the Gen. Berry boys will have to travel this summer to beat them.

The Lewiston Journal is running an interesting series of stories of Maine men who have made good in the news gathering field in Boston. The current issue deals with Edmunds E. Bond, a Boston Globe staff photographer, who formerly conducted a photograph establishment in this city. "Eddie" Bond has some mighty fine stunts in his credit since he joined the Globe staff. The series is being written by Sam Conner, who chose as his first subject another former Rockland photographer, Alton H. Blackinton.

International Peace—the sixth object of the Rotary—formed the subject of Senator Zolma M. Dwinall's address at the last meeting of the local Rotary Club. Senator Dwinall exhibited an accurate and extensive knowledge of English and American history, and dwelt chiefly upon Anglo-American relations. A Boy Scout met the week of May 10 was authorized. The visiting Rotarians were Senator Dwinall, Joseph Brewster and Marcus Chandler, all of Camden; Urban Winter of Caribou and Al Johnson of Belfast. The guests were Henry C. Chatto of Rockland and James Freeman of Portland.

Arthur W. McCurdy, Maine Central ticket agent, leaves Wednesday for an extended trip which will take him from coast to coast. New York will be his first stop, then to Allentown, Penn., where he will visit his daughter, Mrs. Alice Leitch. Washington, D. C. and New Orleans will be visited, then on to Houston, and to San Angelo, Texas, being the guest in the latter place of his brother, Frank McCurdy, whom he has not seen for 44 years. El Paso, San Diego, Los Angeles and San Jose, Calif., will be visited. In San Jose Mr. McCurdy will be the guest of his sister, Mrs. Hattie Thompson. In San Francisco a nephew, Ralph Hill, will be visited for a week or 10 days. Salt Lake City and Denver are next in the itinerary, then to Colorado Springs where he will visit another brother, George McCurdy, on his trip home-ward. He will touch such points as Kansas City, St. Louis, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. The trip will occupy about eight weeks.

A remarkable reception has been accorded the Forty Club play "Dulcy" on every hand. The promoters have found a sympathetic cooperation on the part of the audience, is most encouraging and tickets are in real demand, foreshadowing undoubted success from the financial end. The real objective of the club in staging "Dulcy" is to produce a show of such high quality and real worth that it will bring lasting credit to the club. No effort or expense has been spared and Miss Dushnell and Marshall Bradford have had the unstinted and unhesitating support desired during these weeks of intensive practice. The gowns are charming and have been ordered especially for the production by Fuller-Cobb-Davis. No lovelier costumes have ever graced a local stage than those selected for "Dulcy." The box office will open for seat checking at promptly 9 o'clock Thursday morning and Fred C. Black will personally supervise the fairness of the distribution. Chief Webster has promised an officer to assist in handling of the line.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had to live my life again I would have made a rule to read poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

"WHERE RUNS THE RIVER?"
Where runs the river? Who can say
Who hath not followed all the way
By alders green and sedges gray
And blossoms blue?

Where runs the river? Hill and wood
Curve round to hem the eager flood:
It cannot straggle as it would
Its path pursue.

Yet this we know, our wildest plains
Or rocks or waterfalls it strains
At last the vast stream attains
And I, and you.

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT
Rockland, Me., March 19, 1929.
Personally appeared Frank S. Lydell, who on oath declared that he is President in the office of The Courier-Gazette, and that of the issue of this paper of March 19, 1929, there was printed a total of 6322 copies.
Before me, FRANK R. MILLER,
Notary Public.

Many shall be purified, and made white, and tried; but the wicked shall do wickedly; and none of the wicked shall understand; but the wise shall understand.—Daniel 12:10.

Somebody sends us from Boston a clipping from the Post, with marginal notes tending to show that he was peeved by an experience while motoring in Rockland. The clipping follows:

The extent to which some towns on the route from Boston to Florida have gone during the season just past, to gain tourist popularity and trade, is unusual. A prominent Boston business man, who has just returned, gives this example. He arrived in Florence, S. C., and went into a restaurant to eat. He had hardly seated himself at the table when he saw through the window the familiar sight of a uniformed traffic officer affixing a yellow tag to his car. He rushed out and asked what the idea was. The officer politely showed him the tag. It was a welcome to the town, informing him there was no time limit for parking or any other traffic rules except that of parking in front of hydrants and parking in front of alleys. As far as one-way streets, start and stop traffic lights and other appendages of modern traffic systems were concerned, they did not affect the tourist. The tag read, "Not good for car registered in this county."

"Rockland needs her tourists trade, and should take different methods," writes the sender of the above clipping. "How nice," he continues, "if Rockland would do like this, instead of annoying its tourists at get one of the Thorndike Hotel's good dinners last summer."

There may have been a breach of discourtesy such as this correspondent vaguely hints at. Traffic officers are only human, and after a day of vexations may become a little more brusque than they intend to be. We have always heard more praise than criticism of the Rockland traffic officials, and personally know that Mayor Carver has issued strict orders for them to show every courtesy to visiting motorists. If this is not being lived up to it should be remedied at the earliest possible moment. No use to send Hoover and Lindbergh good-willing down in Mexico if we are not to display the same good will to those who come across the border of neighboring States.

Providing work for every able-bodied person who wants to work is the big job undertaken by the new President of these United States. If the idea is carried through it will mean a vast increase in the general prosperity of the country. If it is a failure—but whoever heard of Hoover making a failure of anything? The Senate Committee on Education and Labor has just made a report in which it estimates that the country could save $2,000,000,000 annually by eliminating seasonal unemployment. A part of the program to accomplish this provides for legislation for the construction of public works in times when employment is slack. This means a system of relief that would be entirely under the control and regulation of the Federal Government, the States and municipalities. Still another recommendation of the Senate committee is designed to encourage insurance against unemployment, and the development of employment exchanges by the States and cities in cooperation with the Government.

The first robin has been reported. Spring is here.

The present week ought to witness the untangling of State Highway difficulties, and it bids fair to be done in a conservative and common sense manner. The Governor Cobb interview has had a marked effect upon the legislators and public at large, and the result is that there is no longer a danger of the stampede which might have caused deep injustice and lasting regret. Time to "turn the rascals out" when it is proven that they are rascals. It is a source of satisfaction to note that every member of the Knox County delegation voted for a fair hearing.

Santa Claus, working out of season, continues to hand nice presents to Neighbor Bath. His latest offering is signed contracts for the construction of two Diesel trollers for the Bay State Fish Co. The Bath Iron Works already has three yachts under construction and it looks like a comfortable summer for the inhabitants of the Sagadahoc metropolis.

Now that the snow has vanished, or very nearly so, the topography of Rockland's streets looks much as the war zone must have looked in France after a battle. But cheer up folks! Other towns are in the same predicament. It is only an incident of near spring, following an abnormal winter.

The session of the Vermont Legislature will be remembered for one thing at least. It was the shortest in 27 years.

John Beaton, champion candlepinist of the "Burrp," hooks onto David Beach one-time king of the Nutmeg State bowlers at Carr's alleys Thursday night.

Herbert Spear, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Spear, was operated upon at Knox Hospital Sunday for appendicitis.

Obituary

ROBERT W. McADAM

After a lingering illness, which physicians diagnosed as a tropical fever, Robert W. McAdam, died Thursday at the home of his mother, Mrs. Amelia F. McAdam, 115 East Putnam Avenue in Greenwich, Conn. He was 54.

For a number of years Mr. McAdam lived at Shippan Point, Stamford, where he was a member of the Stamford Yacht Club. He left Stamford some years ago to live in Havana and later became a resident of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and of Santiago, Chile, as a representative of the North American Copper Company. Mr. McAdam was also interested in real estate, being at one time a broker with Hamilton, Iselin & Co., of New York. He was more recently manager of the Westinghouse Building in New York. His mother and two sisters, Miss Margaret McAdam, of Greenwich, and Mrs. Harold Roberts, of New York, survive.

Mr. McAdam has spent his summer vacations at Trialmark Camp, Owl's Head, the past 14 years, excepting the several seasons when he was out of the country. He had formed a considerable acquaintance in Rockland, and always looked forward to his visits here with his sister and her children. The deceased was a bachelor and his nephew and niece, John C. and Dorothy B. Roberts were the idols of an abiding affection. Mr. McAdam will be much missed hereabouts when the summer colony reassembles.

CAROLINE EVELYN CARR

After a long and trying sickness Caroline Evelyn Carr passed away very quietly in the late evening of Wednesday, March 13, Mrs. Carr was born in Rockland Oct. 17, 1892, daughter of the late Thomas R. and Minnie P. (Phillips) Achorn. The family was broken by the mother's death when Caroline was but a child, after which, until she came to womanhood, she made her home with the late Charles Haskell. April 17, 1911, she married Nelson C. Carr, also of Rockland.

Mrs. Carr was large hearted and saw the world as it is through sympathetic eyes. She was never tired of doing for others, and thought little of the sacrifice, even when her generosity was reflected in limitations of her own pleasure or health. She was never strong, but her cheerful interpretation of the immediate, and her hopeful prospect of the future enabled her to carry on an unusually last sickness her generous and thoughtful spirit found opportunity for expression in tokens of appreciation to her physician, Dr. B. H. Keller of Thomaston, and her minister, Rev. Oscar W. Stuart of the Littlefield Memorial Free Baptist church. She will be sadly missed and lovingly remembered by her large and appreciative circle of friends.

Mrs. Carr was a member of the Universalist church of this city, and of Chapin Class of that church. She was also an active member of the Edwin Luby Relief Corps and Golden Rod Chapter, G. E. S. Funeral services were held from the home, 19 Hill street, Saturday, Rev. Oscar W. Stuart officiating. The Eastern Star and Relief Corps were represented in a body, and the Corps conducted a memorial service. Interment was in Sea View cemetery. The bearers were Eugene Gordon, Maynard Oxtun, E. R. Edwards, and Fred Achorn.

Mrs. Carr is survived by her husband, Nelson C. Carr; one daughter, Blanche A. Carr; one brother, George A. Achorn; and one sister, Anna M. Morandotti of Lynn, Mass.

PLENTY OF ACTION

Assured By Manager Clukey's Line-up For Friday Night At Spear Hall

Bud Fisher and Young Clukey, alias Larry Walsh, fresh from Kelly & Hayes gymnasium in Boston, where they have been for training since their last mix-up here will be back Friday night and Bud will tackle his old foe, Kid Alrick of Sanford. There has been a wide diversity of opinions since their last battle as to who was the better man and Friday night should settle this as "Bud" does not want any misunderstanding.

Young Clukey will lock horns with Tommy Mellon, "Larry" is anxious to show the boys that he can go as fast as the best so Tommy will have to watch his jaw during this session. Owing to the fact that Red Robbins is in the hospital Merrill Taylor will substitute for him with an opponent to be announced later. Merrill has laid up for sometime and is anxious to go, so a good bout is assured.

The preliminaries will be fast and furious (three of them) between local boys; also featuring Bobbie Boyce and a newcomer from Camden in Young Howard March, who guarantees satisfaction.

These six bouts should give plenty of action and satisfy the most fastidious.

SPEAKING OF CREAM!

Here's A Concern Which Has Contracted For 270 Carloads, And That's Not All.

Two hundred seventy carloads of 40 per cent pure country cream have just been contracted for by the General Ice Cream Corporation. This transaction represents an expenditure in the neighborhood of one and a quarter millions of dollars. Shipped as one train-load, these 270 cars of rich cream would cover approximately three miles of track.

V. F. Hovey, president of the General Ice Cream Corporation, explained that this enormous commitment for cream will only partially provide for the General Ice Cream Corporation's requirements during the present year. Additional supplies of cream to go into Pro-Joy Ice Cream will be purchased, as usual, from local sources in New York State and New England. The General Ice Cream Corporation supplies ice cream to upward of 15,000 dealers in New York, Eastern Pennsylvania and the New England States, and caters to a population of approximately 12,000,000 people.

All who knew Mr. Swanson liked and respected him. He was a man of fine principles and always ready to lend a helping hand to those in need. He belonged to the Paving Cutters' Union, Branch 9, which attended the funeral in a body. Beautiful wreaths from the Union branches at Clark Island, Long Cove and Wildcat and numerous floral pieces bespoke the love of the many friends who will miss him. Two hymns were beautifully rendered by the choir from Wildcat, consisting of Gilbert Auld, James Kent and John Reed.
Mr. Swanson is survived by his parents, sisters and brothers who have much sympathy in their sudden bereavement. Interment was in Sea View cemetery. The bearers were John Swanson, Ragnar Burgerson, Victor Swanson, Knut Haroldson, Ernest Edwards and Arvid Johnson. Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea.
But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep,
Turns again home,
Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark.
For though from out our bourne of Time and place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.

Those who braved the cold March wind and attended the service at the Baptist church Sunday evening were well repaid by the graphic and sometimes humorous recital of the 12 members of Company F, C.A.C., who attended the inauguration of Herbert Hoover as President of the United States. The young men clad in regulation uniforms well deserved the happy comments which they heard as they visited the different places of interest in Washington and other cities. They are a fine appearing set of young men. They stressed the cordial reception given them everywhere and the favors shown them in Washington and New York making special reference to the favors extended to them by the assistant manager of Hotel McAlpine in New York. William Tachos who was a native of Thomaston. The soldiers were under command of Capt. Russell Gray and Lieut. Warren Feyer and the program was arranged by Capt. TOWN MEETING TURNOVERS

Saved As Forenoon Refreshments In Rockport Yesterday—Eighty-Three Articles Disposed Of At 4 P. M.

There was a complete turnover in the board of selectmen, three new men being elected at yesterday's town meeting. Arthur K. Walker defeated Winslow F. Dillingham for first selectman 132 to 123. E. H. Bowers was elected second selectman, the unsuccessful candidate being C. A. Cavanaugh. Charles Ingraham and Dr. C. W. Steward. Two ballots were necessary to elect the third member, Albert U. Rhodes defeating Frank Crandon and Bert Andrews.

L. True Spear again acted as moderator, being the unanimous choice of the meeting as Charles L. Veazie as town clerk. A five-cornered contest for road commissioner resulted in the election of Henry T. Carleton on the second ballot. The other contestants were H. Heistad, Charles McKinney, Charles Ingraham and Bert Andrews. L. True Spear was elected a member of the school board. Carleton Davis was elected fire inspector. All other town officers being left for the selectmen to appoint.

The following committee of twelve was elected from the floor to make recommendations on articles in the town warrant: Arthur B. Packard, Orren P. Jackson, Charles Ingraham, Edward Rhodes, Harold Davis, E. Steward, Herbert N. Brazier, Ernest Torrey, John Buzzell, Manassah W. Spear, William A. Paul, and Benjamin Wooster.

Considering that there were 82 sharp contests for offices, the meeting went off rapidly, adjourning at a little after 4, and while there was considerable discussion and some oratory, the session went along very smoothly. A town meeting dinner was served by the Rockport High School seniors at the Methodist church, and the ladies of the G.A.R. served dinner at their hall. Albert Adams, formerly principal of the grammar school, now located at Saco was a visitor.

Article 11, covering conveyance of scholars aroused some acrimonious discussion, but the fact that the school committee had entered into a two-year contract ended it and the appropriation was passed as recommended.

Thirteen articles were passed without action; the purchase of school flags; gravelling of Porter street; advertising Maine's resources, appropriations asked for three bridges, which would have cost the town $12,069.95 and the County $8,490; an electric light and a hydrant at Glenview; $500 for graveling Main street; three articles covering exemption from taxation. Mrs. Stanley, proprietor of Hotel Rockport was given a rising vote of appreciation for the civic spirit she has shown. Nine funds were accepted for the perpetual care of cemetery lots. E. T. Simmons was elected janitor of the town hall. Voted to keep the town team. A bequest of the late Ada Byron Hampton Tremaine of $5,000 for the erection of a public library building was accepted by the town; also two bequests from the late Margaret L. Mansfield, one of $500 to be used in aiding the poor, helpless aged men of the town, and another to the Hoboken School, to be derived from the sale of Mrs. Mansfield's automobiles.

TO DAN D. LION

(For The Courier-Gazette)
The clamor and din of the city streets
Hold never a charm for me;
I have builded my home where the eagle screams,
And the wind blows fresh and free.
There are far more acres of fair green hills
Than your sea-girt island yields,
With lake and forest and mountains blue,
And I hold the key to the fields.

I shun the lure of the city street
And follow the lanes instead,
With flower-strewn grasses beneath my feet,
And the blue sky overhead.
While cuckoo and robin, bluebird and wren
All sing at my very door,
Then why should I come to your island home,
To list to the wild wave's roar?

So prate not to me of your life in the sea,
Or of gulls that scream above;
There are gulls galore, which scream and soar
Over the little brown home I love;
And the charms you boast in your rock-bound coast
Are found on my own green shore;
Be they great or small, we have them all,
And a hundred thousand more.

You have your home and your garden spot
Hemmed in by the rushing tide;
I have my acres and little brown cut,
And the wide wide world beside.
So your call for me is but wasted breath,
Your wiles are of no avail;
Then rest content, on your island, pent,
While I follow the long long trail.

It's there when you want it! No waiting, rather it's waiting for you! Not so much as a match to strike! No coal, soot, ashes, smoke—nothing to bother with!

To the woman who has a thousand and one uses daily for hot water this will certainly be good news; water at the turn of a faucet, boiling hot—ready for the washing, dishes, scrubbing, baby's bath or CLEAN enough for the cooking. "Sepco" heated water is PURE enough for drinking purposes because no sediment collects when heated electrically.

And Dad even comes in for his share of the benefits . . . plenty of hot water for his morning shave and bath.

Mrs. Steele Says of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pratt, W. Va.—I was so weak and nervous that I was in bed most all the time and couldn't sit up and I am only 30 years old. I saw your advertisement in a magazine and after I had taken three doses of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could feel that I was better. After taking two bottles I began doing my work and I feel like a new woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and say it will do all it claims to do and more. I will gladly answer all letters. I receive.—Mrs. S. E. STEELE, Pratt, W. Va.

'Twas Boys' Night

Showed the Rockport Folks What They're Learning As Boy Scouts

The citizens of Rockport were given a real opportunity last Friday night to see what the Boy Scouts are doing the world over to prepare themselves for the emergencies which they may be called upon to face through life, and from all reports the program was greatly enjoyed by those in attendance. The hall was filled to overflowing, which was ample reward to the committee in charge, and the boys of Troop No. 7, who worked so hard for its success.

The torchlight parade which preceded the exhibition started promptly at 7 o'clock and was participated in by representative boys from nearly every troop in the Council, as well as official members of visiting troop committees. Kenneth Mann, Scoutmaster of Troop 9, Rockland, served as drum major, and demonstrated his ability at the art of swinging the baton.

The Rockland Boy's Band, under the leadership of H. E. Kirkpatrick, furnished the music, and with their flash uniforms the lads made a striking picture beneath the flare of the torchlights.

Red flares furnished color to the occasion and there was a goodly number of spectators on the sidelines. Owing to the condition of the roads, the line of march was changed and the parade turned at Pleasant street, instead of Highland Square. After marching into the hall the band gathered at the stage and gave several selections which were much enjoyed. The stage was very attractively decorated with evergreens to represent outdoor life. A pun tent loomed up in the background, in front of which a campfire was cheerily burning. The decorations were made possible through the courtesy of H. Helstad and Charles A. Cavanaugh, and much credit is due them for this attraction.

Scoutmaster Fowle, who had charge of the program, brought his troop into action, and the boys did full justice to the occasion as shown in the many demonstrations given.

Remarks were made by Scout Executive Thompson, who in closing, introduced the Pine Tree Council's first and only Eagle Scout, William Ripley of Troop No. 9, Rockland. Mr. Ripley told the audience of the many things required of a boy before he could become an Eagle Scout. Later he gave a demonstration of fire-making by friction which was very interesting. In addition to Mr. Ripley's demonstration the boys of Troop 9 gave a fine exhibition of the pyramid formation under the direction of Scoutmaster Moran.

Donald Spear of Troop 6 served as bugler, giving the call to colors at the opening of the exhibition and closing with " taps."

Mr. Shaller, who is one of the leaders of the Sea Scout troop in Rockland, told a very interesting story of the relief work done by the Boy Scouts during the big Salem fire.

The troop was especially honored by having as its guest for the evening a Boy Scout from Greenland who received his first training in Denmark, coming later to the United States. His name is Uno Jensen, and he is now doing Scout work in Charleston, S. C.

In closing Scoutmaster Fowle expressed appreciation and thanks in behalf of the troop to all those who assisted in any way toward the success of the evening, making special mention of the Rockland Boys' Band which so kindly gave its services for the occasion.

Immediately following the exhibition the floors were cleared and a social evening was enjoyed, with refreshments.

AT THE STATE CAPITOL

Road Financing Program To Be Heard Wednesday—Osteopaths Happy—Burkett For Speaker

The hearings on the two proposed methods of raising revenue for highway purposes, by issuing bonds or by raising the gasoline tax, which were deferred two weeks ago on account of the upheaval in the highway department, have been re-assigned for Wednesday.

The Kitchen bill for increasing the gas tax from four cents to five cents will be heard before the committee on ways and bridges and taxation jointly at 1 p. m., and at 2 o'clock the committee on ways and bridges will hold hearings on the act proposing an issue of $20,000,000 of bonds for highway and bridge purposes, the resolve amending the constitution so as to provide for the issue of the bonds, and an act re-distributing the gasoline tax funds, conditional on acceptance of the bond issue by the people.

Thursday at 2 p. m. the committee on ways and bridges will consider the Gillespie bill to establish a State highway commission with a full-time chairman and two associate members.

The committee on temperance will hold its first and probably its only hearing of the session this afternoon on an act to regulate the manufacture and sale of soft drinks, syrups and non-alcoholic beverages, and an act prohibiting the sale of any liquid or substance containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol.

The committees on judiciary and Maine publicity jointly will hold hearings today on acts to regulate outdoor advertising and to permit increase in size of directional signs on highways.

An act limiting the powers of public health boards to enforcement of acts of the legislature and taking away the power of such boards to make rules and regulations for the public health will be heard by the public health committee. Passage of the act would, it is said, reduce the province of health boards and officers to the control of emergencies and epidemics and would do away with all preventive measures.

Other acts to be heard by the public health committee on the same day include those requiring school teachers to file health certificates, permitting the removal of tuberculosis prisoners from the State prison to the reformatory for men and requiring the payment of an annual license fee by apothecaries.

The committee on banks and banking will meet this afternoon to consider several acts dealing with the licensing and interest rates of small loan agencies and an act making the giving of checks and drafts without sufficient funds prima facie evidence of intent to defraud.

Taxation Measures
Thursday the taxation committee will consider acts placing excise taxes on electric utility companies and on tobacco products. The first of these acts, introduced by Jack of Lisbon, imposes a tax of four per cent on the gross income of corporations organized for making, generating, selling, distributing and supplying electricity for power, lighting, heating, manufacturing or mechanical purposes, in addition to all taxes upon such public service corporations, their property or stock.

The tobacco tax bill was presented by Jackson of Bath and places a tax of five per cent on the wholesale price of cigars, cigarettes, smoking tobacco, chewing tobacco, snuff and all tobacco products sold within the State except those for exportation purposes. The proceeds of the tax are to be used in equal proportions for Maine publicity, for the State library and for highway construction.

Hearings will be held Thursday by the committee on agriculture on acts providing for the inspection of gasoline and motor lubricating oil offered for sale in this State. These hearings were scheduled for last week but deferred.

The committee on military affairs will on Thursday consider a resolve proposing an amendment to the constitution to provide for a bond issue for payment of a bonus to soldiers and sailors in the Spanish war.

The legal affairs committee on Thursday will give hearings on the Perham bill prohibiting professional Sunday sports and permitting Sunday recreation that does not disturb and annoy the nearby public.

Gov. Gardner has signed an act granting osteopaths equal privileges with physicians and surgeons in the practice of obstetrics and surgery. It will become law in July.

Under its authority practitioners of osteopathy who have been graduated from accredited osteopathic colleges after four years' course, may apply to the State Board of Osteopathic Examinations and registrations for licenses to use antiseptics, anesthetics and narcotics necessary to the practice of surgery and osteopathy. Any person so licensed shall be designated an osteopathic physician with his right to prefix the title "Dr." to their names when accompanied by the word "Osteopath." All reports and health certificates made by such osteopathic physicians shall be accepted by Health Departments on equal basis with like reports from doctors of medicine.

No provision is made in the act that the patient of osteopathic physicians may be accepted in medical hospitals or that osteopathic physicians and surgeons may enjoy equal privileges with surgeons and doctors in such hospitals. It is understood to be the intention of the osteopathic fraternity to maintain their own hospitals in Maine as in many other states.

At the last annual meeting of the Maine Medical Association last summer, the medical men voted not to oppose the osteopaths at this session if a proper measure, safeguarding the public interests, was presented. This led the osteopaths to go the whole way at this session by introducing a bill authorizing not only the practice of obstetrics and surgery, but also surgery and the accompanying use of antiseptics, anesthetics, and narcotics. The medical fraternity offered no opposition to the measure at any stage of its progress, and the result was quiet and steady progress toward enactment. The measure was introduced by Rep. Ralph W. Farris of Augusta, and the legislative committee of osteopaths which drafted the bill was headed by Dr. G. C. Shibles of Westbrook.

Sir James M. Barrie's "Half an Hour," has been made into an all-talking picture, under the title of "The Doctor's Secret," and will be seen here Wednesday and Thursday. The action is supposed to take place within half an hour. During 30 minutes, crammed with the dreams and temptations of life, a woman risks the security of her home and position in order to prove to her wealthy but coarse husband, that she can sacrifice everything for her ideal of true love. This ideal she does attain but only for a fleeting moment. Then devastating tragedy sweeps down to rob her of the one noble thing she has ever had the courage to do. But now she is confronted with a problem more exciting than any she has ever faced. She still has time to return to her life of ease and comfort. And so, within the half hour, she is home again, taking her place as the charming hostess at a dinner party given by her husband. As she walks into the drawing room, she comes face to face with a man, whom she had just left minutes before. He alone knows her secret; if he speaks all is lost. Here is superb drama of love, hope and frustration, written as only Barrie could write it, and blended under the careful direction of William Do Mille into a vivid drama that should prove popular with audiences everywhere. The leading feminine role is played by Ruth Chatterton, star of the legitimate stage.—adv.

HELEN HARGRAVE

Personality!

When Ziegfeld selects them, you can be sure they have personality. This lovely New York girl, now appearing in "Rio Rita," has talent—and beauty, too—enhanced by wonderful skin and the softest waves of dark brown hair.

"When friends ask me what I do to make my hair so soft and gleaming," says Miss Hargrave, "I have to think twice to tell them, because I give so little time to it. The method I use is very popular among New York girls. I just put a little Danderine on my brush each time I use it. I let it settle on my hair, and I'm sure you never know it. Danderine keeps it so soft and easy to arrange and holds it in place so wonderfully. It gives my hair such a silky, soft and lustrous appearance, friends are always commenting on it. There isn't a trace of dandruff left, gives it more lustre than brilliantine. It makes the hair easy to dress; keeps it in place. It usually checks dandruff. It isn't oily; doesn't show. All drug stores have the generous 3 1/2c bottles. A delicately fragrant necessity for the well-groomed girl!"
